3.0 Poverty and Gender Reporting

3.1 Impact of Strategic Objectives on Poverty Reduction and Women's Advancement

3.1.1 Equitable socio-economic development

Impact on Poverty Reduction: Awareness building activities, vocational training and interest free micro-credits (Tk. 5,000-30,000 per person) are creating opportunities for self-employment; raising capital, reducing poverty and empowering about 8.00 lakh low income and disabled people, on average, annually.

Under government management 17 thousand and under private management 76 thousand 6 hundred orphaned and destitute children are being raised as intelligent future citizens through special education, scholarships, training, assistance and rehabilitation programs organized by the government and non-government organisations. Education for 76 thousand 6 hundred children, vocational training for 4 thousand and 8 hundred persons are being arranged annually. Skills of poor and weaker sections of the society will be enhanced and they will be able to improve their living standard.

Impact on Women's Advancement: As inclusion of 50 per cent women beneficiaries in 3 programs, interest free micro-credits for cent percent women beneficiaries in one programme is mandatory; on an average, annually 1.45 lakh women, are benefiting from enhanced social security, self-employment, education and training, and income generating activities. These women will also have opportunities to have their own capital and better access to government resources and services. This will have direct impact on women's advancement. Priority is also given to enhancing the wellbeing and rehabilitation for helpless female children. On an average, annually 8 thousand 5 hundred female children will be provided with social security through government organisations and 8 thousand by private organisations. As there is also a provision to include disabled women in all these activities, it will also help to ensure education, health, training, as well as safe shelters for them and this will, in turn, reduce their probable risk and increase their social safety.

3.1.2 Social protection for the disadvantaged people

Impact on Poverty Reduction: An effort will be taken to develop an effective social safety net programme to provide old age allowance at the rate of Tk. 500 per person per month to 31.50 lakh people and 11.50 lakh widows and women oppressed by husband. Moreover, Tk. 600 per person per month to 7.50 lakh distressed insolvent persons with disabilities will be provided. These activities will have direct positive impacts in terms of accommodation, clothing, health care, improved nutrition, and will help address poverty-related problems. Initiatives will also be taken to expedite poverty reduction and strengthening social protection programs for the poor by providing human resource development training through 3,300 registered private voluntary organisations. This will involve providing financial assistance to 16,700 organisations at different levels. Social protection and poverty reduction programs targeted for the poor people will be strengthened and expedited through such programmes. Training, allowances and special education stipends for backward and weaker section of the society including eunuch and nomad will improve the living standard of 60 thousand persons.

Impact on Women's Advancement: Social security for about 31.50 lakh women have been ensured, as it is compulsory that 100 per cent of the beneficiaries will be comprising the widows, women oppressed by husband and distressed women and 50 per cent of the women beneficiaries will be comprising from the elderly and disabled allowances programs. As a result, social dignity and empowerment of women will be achieved and poverty risks will be reduced. Further, opportunities to have adequate accommodation, clothing, health and nutrition for the elderly, widows, women oppressed by husband, distressed women and women with disability will also be increased. As both men and women are involved with welfare organisations, initiatives will be taken to strengthen the activities related to women advancement on a priority basis. In addition, registered welfare organizations will play a pivotal role in enhancing women's social status and participation in different forums, providing legal assistance, sharing public resources and services, preventing women from repression, child marriage and dowry.

3.1.3 Social justice and social inclusion

Impact on Poverty Reduction: Food, accommodation and medical facilities will be provided in Adolescent Development Centres, Government Shelter Centres, Vagrant and Destitute Training and Rehabilitation Centres and for people coming into contact with the legal system through probation and after-care programmes. Beneficiaries will be provided with a general education, vocational training and lessons on the development of humanity. On an average, annually 2,100 children and people will be included and rehabilitated. 'Hospital/Medical Social Service Programmes' in 89 hospitals through 485 patient welfare associations will provide short and long-term free medical services to patients who are destitute or having significant social-economic problems. 30 hospitals, constructed under the public-private partnership initiative, will preserve 30% of their medical services, free of charge, for the poor, destitute or disabled. In addition, the Disability Service and Assistance Centre and Mobile Disability Service Centre will provide free treatment and therapy and distribute assistive devices to this group of patients free of charge. As a result, annually, an average of 38 lakh destitute patients and 2.91 lakh disabled persons will be able to receive medical care and support services.

Impact on Women's Advancement: Along with the provision of education and training, safe shelters and maintenance are being provided to women who come into contact with the legal system in order to increase social security and reduce the risk of harm. Annually, 5,000 women will be provided assistance through Government/non-Government organisations to enable them to receive fair justice under the legal system and for rehabilitation into society. Through training and rehabilitation programmes, 600 disadvantaged women on an average annually and 600 adolescents will be gaining access to safe home programmes. In addition, social security support services, legal aid and fair justice will be provided to women affected by social maladies (dowry, sexual harassment, child marriage and drug addiction). Among the health service recipients, 50% are women, hence, there will be positive impact on them to ensure social security. Further, women will also be protected from the probable loss and vulnerability from the provision of health services and rehabilitation for the expectant mother, poor women and children, which have been given due priority 50% vulnerable women and women with disability patient will be ensured among the patients who will be provided with free treatment from private hospital.
